1. Do you consider pursuing your studies after PNC & why? (here "after PNC" doesn't refer to "just after PNC", it can also be after a few years)
After PNC we are considering pursuing to study after finished PNC. Because we want to improve our technical skills, soft skills and we also want to get a bachelor's degree.
2. After the Knowledge Forum, which university seemed to fit you the best & why?
After the knowledge forum, the university that seems to fit us the best is Asia Europe University. Because: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Curriculums: Their curriculums are similar to PNC and most of the coding subjects is they teach the code language that is mostly used in Cambodia.• Their schedule: We can study in the evening or at the weekend right their that makes it easy for us to study and work at the same time.• Rules: They have strong rules but because we study and work at the same time most of the teachers of too strict with us, they mostly know and tolerate us.• Tuition fee: They said that they will discount more for the PNC student so it is going to be cheaper than the original discount to all of the students from all of the schools or universities and the original discount is also not too expensive.

- Location: The university location is near our rental house, so it'll be easy for us to go to school, and it not going to make us spend a lot of time going there.

3. What have you learned from the student/alumni interview?

What I have learned from the alumni interview are:

- I know about their experience of work.
- How to manage the tasks.
- What challenges they have faced in the workplace and how to solve it.
- What soft skills that we mostly use in the workplace.
- Know more specifics about the school that they have learned and also another school.
- How to manage the time during study and work at the same time.
- Know how they manage their studies to make them successful in their study.

4. What have you learned from the Campus Tour?

After taking the campus tour at the university, we have gained valuable knowledge. We now have a clear understanding of the curriculum, requirements, quality, role, activities, and tuition fees of the university. This information has helped us make an informed decision about whether the university is a good fit for our future studies after graduating from PNC. We anticipate having job opportunities after completing our studies at PNC, and it is important for us to choose a university that will allow us to balance work and study.

5. After all those steps, which university are you considering and why?

After all those steps, we are considering Asia Euro University because its curriculum aligns well with PNC, offering relevant programs. AEU's quality education, reputation, and resources make it an ideal choice for our future studies and career goals. One more, Alumni have recommenced to continue to study there also.
